

Day trips to Similan Islands, Koh Bon / Koh Tachai & local dive sites

The Similan Islands are probably the most beautiful and diverse dive sites in Thailand and day trips and liveaboards to the islands are among the most popular worldwide. They consist of nine islands of granite rock with partially lush tropical vegetation, lapped by crystal clear water and lined partly with fine white sandy beaches. The islands stretch over 25 kilometers, like a pearl necklace, from north to south by the Andaman Sea and located 65 km off the coast of Phang Nga province. They have already been declared a National Park in 1982. The Similans are ideal for observing or photographing small fish by its enormous biodiversity of tropical reef fish. But not only small fish visit here, even leopard sharks or white and black tip sharks are not rare also manta rays and whale sharks can be seen. You can visit the Similan Islands from October to May on day trips or overnight trips, but you will find the best conditions from November to April.

Our dive & snorkeling trips depart every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday to Similan Islands, Wednesdays & Sundays to Koh Bon & Koh Tachai and Fridays to 3 local dive sites (for divers only). In the morning we go by minibus to Taplamu where our comfortable dive boat MV Chai Yo is moored. We try to make sure that also our non-diving guests receive maximum attention, fun and safety.

Included in the price:

Transfer from Khao Lak hotel-boat-hotel, breakfast, lunch, coffee, tea, drinking water, soft drinks, fruits, towel, mask & snorkel, fins, life jacket, dive or snorkel guide and liability insurance.

Similan Islands Itinerary:

Our boat departs from Taplamu pier at 8:00 am. After the boat briefing, we enjoy our breakfast. The boat needs about 3 hours to the Islands. Around 10:45-11:00 am we arrive with comfort and style at the Similan Islands where we conduct our first dive & snorkel trip with our professional Guides and right after that we will take our lunch onboard. Around 1:30-2:00 pm we prepare for our second dive & snorkel trip and will finally return around 17.30-18:00 pm at Taplamu pier.

Transfer back to your Resort.

(The times for trips to Koh Bon / Koh Tachai are the same, only on Wednesdays, we come back two hours later because we're doing 3 dives)
